How to get to Montpellier ?

By plane

Upon arrival in Montpellier, the Montpellier Airport Shuttle, line 620, will take you to the "Place de l'Europe" stop, connecting with tram line 1, which serves the city center.
From Montpellier, from the city center : Tram line 1 towards "Odysseum" --> "Place de l'Europe" stop to take the Montpellier Airport Shuttle, line 620.

By train

Montpellier is accessible by TGV.

Please note that there are two train stations in Montpellier: a station in the city center, Montpellier Saint Roch, and a TGV station outside, Montpellier Sud de France. This station is located 6 km from the city center. Several means of transport serve this station to and from Montpellier city center. A paid shuttle (ticket €1.60, every 15 minutes during peak hours) is provided by public transport (TAM) to connect Montpellier Sud de France station to the Place de France stop, served by Tram line 1 leading to the city center. Access to the shuttle is via the station's western forecourt. The journey time to the city center is 50 minutes (Shuttle and Tramway). Alternatively, the Odysseum stop, also on Tramway Line 1, is located 2.7 km from Montpellier Sud de France train station. Bus and tram tickets can be purchased online using the M'Ticket app or at ticket-tam.com.

Accommodation Tips

Prioritize accommodation in the city center or the Antigone district. There are many hotels, aparthotels, and AIRBnB, but Montpellier is a very popular city in late June, so it's advisable to book as soon as possible. If you're coming by car, parking can be a bit complicated, so make sure you check availability at your hotel.
